

Will They Ever Be Taxed?

(To the tune of the MTA) words by Jack Hasling

Oh, let me tell you the story of the K Street lobbies
And the money that they're giving away;
They can buy the Congress and control legislation
And they do it almost every day.

But will they ever be taxed?
No, they'll never be taxed!
Even though the country's really in need.
I'll believe that corporations are the same as people
If I ever see one cry or bleed.

Now, the President's proposing we revise taxation
So the wealthy folks would pay their share;
But Republicans just want to see the rich get richer,
Oh, those greedy bastards just don't care!

But will they ever be taxed?
No, They'll never be taxed!
All they want to do is cut even more.
They'll take away our health care and our old age pensions—
Our security is going out the door.

Now there's lots we could do building railroads and bridges
And repairing all our run-down schools.
But conservatives would rather play their games on Wall Street
And get rid of all the governmental rules.

But will they ever be taxed?
No, they'll never be taxed!
And we'll be in debt the rest of our lives.
With all the roadblocks in Congress, and the votes not taken
It's a wonder how the country survives.

The Supreme Court says corporations are people
And can donate all the money they choose.
If we let that decision be the last interpretation
You can bet that you and I are gonna lose.

But will they ever be taxed?
No, they'll never be taxed!
Because the banks have gotten too big to fail.
Pass the 28th Amendment and correct injustice; (pause)

LET THE PEOPLE HAVE THE RIGHT TO PREVAIL !
